CENTRAL CHILDREN'S HOME DAY

On Saturday, June 21, 2003, we celebrated our 8th annual Central Children's Home Day starting with a parade downtown and continuing with campus activities. The parade consisted of 75 plus entries including city and county officials, Directors and Board Members of Central Children's Home, floats, marching bands, motorcycle clubs, steppers, saddle clubs and many others. Monetary prizes were awarded for the best entries for the Commercial and Noncommercial floats.

featuring food, food, and more food, T-shirts, ornaments, etc. The Saddle Clubs provided horseback riding and the Hillside High school Band performed on the football field to delight the crowd. The kids were entertained with a stadium size Moonwalk inflatable, face painting and balloon art from Fun Times by Robert White, Inc. of Raleigh.

The campus activities included 40 or more vendors

The pavilion entertainment began around 11:30 AM and consisted of God's Angels Step Team from Wake Forest, the Handbell Choir from Fayetteville, Change for Youth Step Team and J. F. Webb Step Team, Oxford. The Omega Psi Phi Step Team, the Dorcettes Steppers and the Gleaners & Knights of District 8 performed along with many others. We had more than a thousand visitors on this special day but we missed you.

Gospel Fest

The Gospel Fest, under the direction of Rev. James Wade, began at 2 PM. The groups participating were the Spiritual Anointed of Creedmoor, the Chavis Family of Oxford, the McShaws of Henderson and the famous "One Man Band" featuring Brother William Rigsbee of Nashville, and numerous others. All had a wonderful time worshiping with these gifted and anointed groups.

Our children here at Central Children's Home are the reason we do what we do. The entertainment provided for them was to allow them some well deserved enjoyment. And enjoy themselves they did. There was a constant line of children from the Moonwalk to the face painting to the balloon art. Then they would go eat and come back and start the rounds again. It was a joy to see them having such a good time.

We invite you to participate next year in any way possible whether it be obtaining a booth for your food or wares or just coming to visit with the children and staff of Central Children's Home.

GREETINGS FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

MICHAEL ALSTON, SR.

My beloved friends of the Central Children's Home, I personally bring greetings to each of you by sharing one of my favorite Bible verses:

The Prayer of Jabez

And Jabez called on God of Israel saying, "Oh, that you would bless me indeed, and enlarge my territory, that Your hand would be with me, and that You would keep me from evil, and that I may not cause pain!"

So God granted him what he requested.

1 Chronicles 4:10

We would like to thank each of you for your financial support as well as our friends who shared the best of their time and talent since our last communication. We are so thankful to God for our blessings indeed because we are able to achieve so much with your kindness and generosity. Likewise, we were able to develop several new program service demands to meet the special needs of our children. Our new enhanced service programs are as follows: 1) Clinical Counseling and Therapeutic Services, 2) Campus Classroom, 3) Independent Living Skills Program, and 4) Respite Care Program.

Our clinical services include the employment of a Master's Level Clinical Social Worker on a fulltime basis. This new staff member will be responsible for coordinating therapeutic services for all children in care. Another significant service will be arranging for psychological testing and evaluations to assist in developing "Service Plans" and appropriate academic placement.

The campus classroom, known as Genesis Academy, will be instrumental in providing continuous educational services to our children in care. The teacher and aides will be employees of the Granville County School System. The campus classroom will provide continuous academic training for students who are in care short term as well as those students who experience difficulty in the traditional public school setting. This additional educational opportunity will enable students to maintain their academic standing in the course of their transition during the placement process.

Currently, the John Chafee Foster Care Independence Act requires County Departments of Social Services to provide training to foster children to facilitate their transition to adulthood. In support of this effort, Central Children's Home is providing skill training activities that will help our foster children to become self-sufficient adults. Some of the skill areas are as follows: 1) Money Management, 2) Food Management, 3) Personal Hygiene, 4) Health Maintenance, 5) Home Management, 6) Time Management, 7) Anger Management, 8) Public Transportation, 9) Employment Skills and 10) Community Skills, etc. However, for many of our students, we support their efforts to pursue their education in institutions of higher learning.

We are also providing "30 day respite care" to at-risk youth via the North Carolina Alliance for Youth which covers Caswell, Franklin, Granville, Person, Vance and Warren Counties. The purpose of this service is designed to divert youth from entering the juvenile justice system. We offer testing and evaluations and provide counseling services to help youth handle their particular issues. This program has been very successful, and we look forward to continuing this initiative in the future.

Lastly, the Board of Directors is launching a $125,000 fund raiser to assist our agency in meeting the growing financial demands to provide the best services for our children. The theme of the campaign is "Friends of the Children's Home Committee": Providing a Safety Net for Children. We are inviting friends and guests on a monthly basis to come by the facility and chat with us to learn how they might be helpful in supporting our vision for the children. All this will be in good timing with the Accreditation process as we endeavor to provide best practice for our children and their families. If we are diligent, we know that all the works of our hands will be greatly blessed.

"Our Special
Thanks to Each of You"

A CCH SUCCESS STORY

BY ROGER GREGORY

My name is Roger Gregory. I was a student at Central Children's Home for seven years. have no complaints about those seven years. In actuality, they were the best seven years of my life. During that time I developed my religious practices at First Baptist Church in Oxford, NC. Mr. Alston is also a deacon at First Baptist Church. While serving faithfully as a member, sing and direct the young adult missionary choir. When time allows, I also direct the Central Children's Home Youth Choir that sings weekly at your churches.

After graduating from J. F. Webb High School in 2002, I attended 1 year at Shaw University in Raleigh, NC. I then returned to my hometown in Oxford. I am now employed as a correctional officer with the NC Department of Corrections in Butner, NC as well as a substitute teacher in the Granville County School System.

I am very proud of my accomplishments thus far in my life and I owe it all to God and Central Children's Home. As a result of working in the prison system, I realize that I could have easily strayed from God's grace. Thanks mostly to Central Children's Home.

They were the best seven years of my life"

62ND ANNUAL PILGRIMAGE DAY

The Central Children's Home of North Carolina hosted its' 62nd annual Pilgrimage Day on October 26, 2003. Our theme for this years event was "Spiritual Growth of our Children" This activity is sponsored by predominately black Posts and Units from across the state of North Carolina.

This celebration began in 1941 by Division "B" of the Unit and Division VI of the Post of the American Legion who were veterans of the Spanish-American War and World War I. They conceived the idea of traveling across the state of North Carolina by cars and buses to support the "colored orphanage" as it was called at that time. They decided to call this annual event "Pilgrimage Day ". Their first theme was "Spare a Dime to Train a Child"

Now the veterans of all wars have joined forces in support of the home. Many of the organizers have passed on, but their dream is still alive. That dream was to lend support to the children here.

We had a combined representation from 15 of our posts and units this year. The guest speaker was Rev. Tolokin Omokunde, pastor of Timothy Darling Presbyterian Church, Oxford, NC. Reverend Omokunde delivered a powerful message regarding children and our responsibilities of their upbringing. The music during the program was provided by the Huntsville Baptist Church Male Chorus. We had a very positive turnout and raised $16,665.26. We were short of reaching our goal of $23,500 for this year but with continued efforts and by the wonderful grace of God, we will reach and surpass our goals next year.

Plaques were given to the highest contributors and certificates to the 2nd and 3rd place contributors. All donors were recognized and are graciously appreciated.

We were blessed with a great celebration this year on October 26th.

CLINICAL SOCIAL WORKER JOINS PROGRAM SERVICES TEAM

By Michael Alston

We would like to take this opportunity to welcome Jessica Woodruff to our Central Children's Home staff. However, she is really not a stranger to us because she served as a graduate intern with our organization from August 2001 – May 2002 while attending the School of Social Work at UNC-Chapel Hill. As a result of her excellent service provided during her internship, she was employed part-time as a social worker during the summer break June 2002 – August 2002. Another valuable internship was served from August 2002 – May 2003 at the Center for Child and Family Health, Durham, NC. Upon completion of these two internships and two years of course studies, Jessica earned a Masters Degree in Social Work from UNC-Chapel Hill in May 2003.

Jessica Woodruff, Clinical Social Worker

Prior to her graduate studies, she was employed as a "Family Worker" at an organization in Maryville, Missouri. Her duties included providing solutions and goals to children with anger management issues and social skills problems. She also worked in the homes of these children by offering guidance and training to their families to assist the parent(s) in developing the appropriate skills to provide safe and healthy living environments for their children. In addition to these achievements, she also participated in other internships which focused on "child protective services" and "an abstinence only curriculum service program for adolescent children" as part of her overall studies in earning a Bachelors Degree in Psychology/Sociology from Northwest Missouri State University in May 2001.

Without any reservation, the administration believes that she possesses the qualifications, practical experience and personality to work effectively with our children and their families to help all parties achieve their goals and objectives. In this regard, Jessica will co-ordinate all clinical services for the children in our care. Likewise, she will collaborate closely with our staff social workers and residential team by providing direct therapeutic services when appropriate as well as coordinating additional therapeutic services with our local Mental Health agency and private contract providers. She will also be responsible for arranging psychological testing and assessments for our children whenever necessary. Routine visits will also be scheduled with the various schools of each child in our care to include GED programs and higher educational programs to insure that the psycho-educational and academic needs of each child is being addressed in their respective curriculums.

By Jessica Woodruf

"I have always admired Marian Wright Edelman's courage and wisdom and I think she said it best when she stated, "If we don't stand up for children, then we don't stand for much".

During the years I have worked with children in several different capacities. I was a swimming instructor, a tutor and involved in my church youth group. I have always envisioned a job that would integrate my love for children and my desire to understand and emphathize with the feelings and emotions of others. I know that Central Children's Home will provide me with that opportunity and I look forward to serving these children to the best of my ability.

Our greatest weakness is not asking for God's strength.

In the poem "We Make The World," written by A. G. Walton included in the programme by Grand Worthy Matron Torian, two stanzas stand out:

We Make the World

We make the world in which we live By what we gather and what we give, By our daily deeds and the things we say, By what we keep or we cast away.

.....What is the place in which we dwell, A hut or a palace, a heaven or a hell. We gather and scatter, we take and give, We make our world - and there we live.

ACCREDITATION PROGRESS

Our facility is scheduled to become fully accredited by the Council on Accreditation (COA) during the next 12 months. According to brochures published by the Council on Accreditation, it is an international, independent, not-for-profit human service accrediting organization. COA accredits nearly 1,400 public and private organizations in the United States and Canada that provide child welfare services, behavioral health care services, and other related service programs.

The mission of the Council on Accreditation promotes best practice standards, champions quality services for children, youth, and families; and advocates for the value of accreditation. This is demonstrated by; (1) Developing standards of best practice; (2) Advocating for national and international practices that promote high-quality services; (3) Building multicultural and multi racial insights and capacities with respect for diversity; (4) Promoting a service focus that builds on individual and family strengths; (5) Providing educational and technical assistance programs, and accrediting human service organizations.

COA service standards cover over 50 human services for all ages to include Behavioral Healthcare Services, Child and Family Services, Community-Based Education and Support Programs, Crisis Services and Residential Child Care Facilities like ours, and several other similar human service organizations.

According to COA (Council on Accreditation), the benefits of being nationally accredited by their organization are as follows; (1) Ensure that children, families and individuals receive the highest quality services; (2) Identifies organizations in which consumers can have confidence; (3) Enable organizations to receive public and private funding support; (4) Provides a solid risk-management strategy and an ongoing plan for quality improvement; (5) Enables organizations to meet measurement and reporting requirements of payers and regulators; (6) Demonstrates accountability in management of resources; and (7) Builds staff morale and increases program effectiveness.

To achieve this prestigious recognition each organization must complete a self-study by generating volumes of policies and procedures to carryout the best practices to meet the needs of the children in care. The critical points of emphasis center around the following; (1) Administration: (long and short term planning, organizational integrity, and quality of the service environment; (2) Human Resources, Financial Management and Risk Management (Insurance); (3) Program Services and Quality Improvement: (Ethical Practices, Rights and Responsibilities; Intake, Assessment and Service Planning; Service Delivery; and Behavior Management); and (4) Personnel Development (Basic Staff Training) and Risk Management Training (Self defense and strategies to protect children from harming themselves and others). After completion of the self-study a volunteer peer review team will visit our campus to verify compliance with these standards to recommend national accreditation.

The timetable for completion of the self-study is set for the end of the calendar year 2003, and the site-review is scheduled for early Spring of 2004. We expect to announce our full accreditation in the fall of 2004, if all our efforts are achieved according to plan.

In the meanwhile, there are ways you can help to achieve this status as well as maintain this prestigious distinction in the years to come. As always, we ask that you give the best of your time, talent and financial resources to assist us in our day to day operations. We accept the challenge of providing "best practice" and "service" to our children via National Accreditation, and we appreciate you joining us in this effort.
